Coaching is a partnership designed to enhance your ability to meet your goals and move forward toward your vision of a fulfilling life. As your coach, I will help you achieve the results you seek. We speak, by phone, on a weekly basis, discussing your progress and how you will move forward. I also conduct group coaching calls called "Coaching Circles," to apply coaching techniques and group interaction to assist participants in moving forward in their lives. I work with people in many walks of life, located throughout the country and internationally. As your coach, I will help you identify where you want to go and how to get there. I will encourage, inspire, support and cheer you on as you move forward to a more rewarding and fulfilling life!

Career Coaching

If you dream of finding work you love, using and developing your skills to their fullest potential, bringing your unique brilliance into your work or being powerful in your work, our coaching together can help you: • define what you desire in your career

- identify and let go of the things that are holding you back from doing work you love
- find your way out of the frustration/anxiety of your present work life
- understand why you are not getting where you want to be in your career
