

Summer 2005 Seasonal Message #2: Let Your Arrow Take Flight

Dear Friends,

Summer is the season of full bloom. All the seeds that you have planted into our Mother Earth will show themselves to you now. Summer brings the magnificence of all that you have conceived and planted, presenting itself to the world. Your colors are bright in summer. They are presented with a depth of appreciation, beauty, and gracefulness for the accomplishment that is there. Summer is filled with appreciation for what you have done, for your accomplishment, for your growth, and for your strength to move toward the spiritual light of creation, the celebration for the harmonies and the balance that exist in all of life.

For the warrior of spirit, summer is a time to shoot your arrow toward the target you have chosen, and let the arrow take flight. It is a time of power.

During the summer, may you gather your forces for the reaping of what you have created. May you manifest the sacred weaving of your life into reality. May you celebrate all the beauty and vibrant color that you are. (From Walk In Spirit: Prayers for the Seasons of Life.)

We are all in a circle.
Our dreams and prayers are at their core
The same dreams and prayers.
Our circle will lead out into the world,
And spread harmony over all the earth.
To remind us of this circle, We envision one knot.
This knot will bind us together
In higher circles,
Each of us responsible for
One other person's prayer,
Responsible for each other's prayers,
And the prayer that our circle represents.
We offer our knots up to the Great Spirit.
We are now separate,
And we are now joined.
May our prayers be as one.
May our unique spirits thrive
Independently and together. Ho!

In Love and Spirit,

Lynn Andrews

The Magical Mysteries of Time - Past and Future Lives.

An Online Course with Lynn Andrews, July 28 - August 25, 2005

What is time that it has such power to change all that exists back into dust? What is this unseen force like the wind that can shape the land and our lives? Learn to play with time. Time is surreal, like fish swimming in treetops. A person of power knows how to arrange time. A person of power knows how to arrange time. Your power depends upon your use of time (The Power Deck)

We are enrolling now for my upcoming Online Course, "The Magical Mysteries of Time - Past and Future Lives," July 28 - August 25, 2005. This is a course about shifting time, shifting from being out of the body to being completely incarnate in this lifetime, being in the body, being in the moment completely and totally.

When you are not living in the now, you are living in stress. Stress is a huge issue today for all of us and a source of much dysfunction in all our relationships. If you can learn to shift your concept of time and your experience of time into the present moment, then it will be possible for you to travel the path toward healing and spiritual enlightenment in a deeply personal and powerful way, in the way of the shamans throughout the ages. You will be released from so many aspects of the discomfort and fear which we carry around in our lives, and you will find a great comfort in understanding yourself from a different perspective and dimension of time.

I invite you to join us on this wonderful journey into consciousness. Please visit my website at www.lynnandrews.com to register for this special Online Course.
