A Beautiful New Horizon Lies Ahead!

Blessings and good medicine to everyone!

The New Moon is always a good time to begin again - something new, acts that you perhaps have not attempted before. If ceremony is needed in your life, this is a good time. We are moving out of hibernation, and into a time of gathering and looking towards the growth of new things. What could be more beautiful than a garden in the spring filled with color and fragrance? Think of the darkness of the winter ending and the mirror of your spirit reflecting new images of growth and new green stalks of inspirational life. This is the time to begin the sacred painting of your life in the Spring of the year. The muses are awakening, looking around for something to support and to inspire ideas, movement, physical integrity, and the support of the creative will.

Look towards the center of your being, often called the flowering tree. It is in that place within you that is fired by love, by wisdom and the gathering of knowledge. Visualize clear ponds, the reflection of the sun, the flight of birds, lily pads and the lotus blossom flowering out of the murky depths into the breath of Spirit and Life. Flowers become more real because you see them.

How do you see the world? What veils of illusion need to be carefully lifted from your sight and given away to Spirit? We all have veils of conditioning that distort our vision. Now is the time to tear them away and see clearly the reflection of your new face in the waters of a still pond. Who are you and what does the rest of this year look like for you? What are your gains? How can you become stronger and more focused? Make a list of what you want to accomplish around the Sacred Wheel - physical, dreams and emotions, spirit, and intellect. See each of your ideas as a plant growing - moist, vital and pure.

There is a beautiful new horizon ahead. If there is grief - be grateful for the deep teachings in your life. For all of us remember that it is who you honor in life that creates your future. Be grateful for your continued life, as we have survived a great siege on many dimensions of existence. Find your joy.

Let go of your baggage, align yourself with your new world vision so your light can shine. And remember where you come from.

"We are made from the stars and to the stars we must one day return."

Welcome your new vision with open arms. Let gratitude open your heart toward the opportunities that surround you.

In spirit and love,
